- The KD28 lamp by Joe Colombo retains its original 1967 design, reinterpreted with recycled materials and contemporary lighting solutions.
- The structure remains faithful to the historic proportions, while the dome-shaped diffuser now features a matte finish that ensures a softer, more even light distribution, enhancing visual comfort.
- Special attention is given to the details, such as the fabric-covered power cable, which is perfectly color-coordinated with the base, adding a refined technical touch.

The light source contained in this appliance must only be replaced by qualified personnel using original spare parts.
